Workiva for the Congressional Budget Justification

Connected, collaborative, and controlled reporting with data you can trust

The Workiva connected reporting platform enables agencies to manage their budget formulation processes from beginning to end.

Streamline your internal process by issuing guidance and tracking business unit responses, reviews, and approvals in a single, connected cloud environment.

Develop your Congressional Budget Justification in one unified document where your entire team can work simultaneously to develop narratives and update budget data, all while maintaining a full history of changes and control over the review and approval process.

Publish all of your budget documents directly from the Workiva platform, and easily roll forward reports from the previous period.

Simplify data organization and preparation

Eliminate back-and-forth email exchanges, version control issues, and manual data aggregation. Consolidate and automate data pulls from multiple source systems, including performance metrics, financial system actuals, and narrative.

Collaborate with control

Robust permissioning enables you to control access to individuals and groups of users. See who made what change and when across the entire life of the document. Leave tasks and comments to document forecast reviews, all without ever leaving the platform.

Analyze multiple budget scenarios

Develop multiple budget scenarios, and see the changes cascade automatically throughout spreadsheets, documents, and presentations. Summarize millions of rows of data instantly to compare and analyze data across your agency. Maintain data integrity with historical budget and actuals data in one collaborative spreadsheet.

Connect data directly to reports

Leverage familiar, easy-to-use applications to perform all of your analysis. Connect data directly to your end budget documents—the Congressional Budget Justification, budget in brief, performance reports, and more. Refresh all of your related analysis, including charts, tables, and narrative, instantly with a single click.
