

Low-Code 101: What You Need to Know

Say goodbye to slow, old-school software creation. To address record demand for digital innovation and a scarcity of technical expertise, organizations are adopting low-code application development. Consider following in their footsteps because, with low-code platforms, developers at all skill levels can quickly build, evolve, and deploy applications that deliver competitive differentiation.

What’s a low-code platform?

Low-code platforms provide a visual language and a drag-and-drop interface for developing applications, along with:

-
- Reusable components
 - Automated code generation
 - Security and governance
 - Integration with existing systems and more

Empowers digital transformation leaders to achieve:

Up to 75%

reduction in development resources required per project

Empowers IT managers to achieve:

Up to 90%

reduction in application development backlog

By 2025, 70%

of new apps will have already been developed using low-code platforms, according to Gartner

Low-code is revolutionizing how apps are built

Build

- Experiences
 - Create pixel-perfect apps
- Efficiencies
 - Automate complex processes
- Extensions
 - Extend all of your essential systems
- Core systems
 - Modernize core systems

10x

Faster than traditional development

Top reasons to choose OutSystems high-performance low-code over traditional software development

Unmatched speed

90%

faster delivery of apps and updates

Full-stack development with pre-built components

5000+

reusable UI blocks and templates

Enterprise-grade security & governance

500+

security validations from design to runtime

Effortless scalability and performance

1000s to millions of users supported with auto-scaling

AI-assisted development

Up to 100x

improved developer productivity with the combined power of AI and low-code

Simplified connections

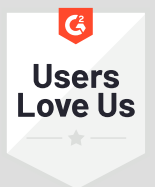

100+

prebuilt external system integrations

OutSystems is the #1 low-code platform

#1 by customers

#1 by analysts

Recognized as a leader by Gartner

6x

in a row

#1 by community

650k+ Community Members
~28,000 Daily Active Devs

Want to learn more?

We’re excited to demonstrate what OutSystems can do for you.