

TOP SKILLS: Federal Government

At Cornerstone, we know content and skills are at the forefront of achieving your agency's goals. That's why we continuously evaluate our customers' industries and the technological advancements impacting them. We identify the key factors affecting your productivity and employee experience while helping you create plans for adapting to change quickly.

You can combine these deep industry insights with Cornerstone Skills Graph, a unique AI engine, and Cornerstone Content Anytime, a robust content library, to identify and grow the top skills for your agency. With these solutions, your agency can meet its skills development needs all in one system. Partnered with Cornerstone, you have powerful new ways to holistically evaluate skills strengths, gaps, and needs and pair them with tangible positive actions for your agency.

The top skills for the federal government

- ✦ Leadership
- ✦ Strategy
- ✦ Employee Engagement
- ✦ Risk Management
- ✦ Virtualization
- ✦ Information Technology
- ✦ Productivity Improvement
- ✦ Budgets
- ✦ DFAR (Defense Federal Acquisition Rules)
- ✦ FAR (Federal Acquisition Rules)

“

Agencies are planning for developmental and hiring initiatives. They want to find and develop federal employees with the skills they need to address the shifting priorities and shifts in the future of government work. Skills such as leadership, strategy, and risk management remain at the forefront for federal agencies and their staffs.

STEVE DOBBEROWSKY

Vice President, Federal Sales, Cornerstone

Cornerstone Content Anytime subscriptions help you equip your people with today's and tomorrow's most desired skills, like inclusive leadership, employee engagement, risk management, and budgeting. Popular subscriptions for the federal government include Leadership & Management, Technology, and Modern Compliance.

Try a sample course today!
www.csod.com